

About

All businesses would love to have a full-service marketing or advertising firm working for them. Now, any sized business can with iAdvertizing. We offer businesses an opportunity to hire us on an individual job basis. All of our services are set with a fixed price and even before you decided to hire us you can get a real time, automatic quote on what your business needs from our website. So, you can now have a full-service agency working for your company, no matter what the size, without all the traditional retainers, contracts or other baggage that usually accompanies working with a Madison Avenue level agency.

So, what you get is:

- * Individually offered services
- * Fixed prices
- * Free, real-time quote for your job from our website
- * To spend only what your budget allows on only the marketing services you need
